Russian is the language of the largest country in the world. Straddling the continents of Europe and Asia, the Russian Federation occupies a critically important place in the new global dynamics at the threshold to the 21st century. Whatever your interest -- cultural or historical studies, medicine, law, business, science, psychology, international relations, eg.--knowledge of Russian will be an invaluable key. While political and economic issues have dominated media attention to Russia during the Soviet and post-Soviet eras, Russia also has produced some of the world's greatest writers, artists, and musicians.

Russian 101 is an exploration into the Russian world through its most fundamental element--the Russian language. Language is the living expression of people--at their most practical and their most whimsical.

Welcome to Russian 101 !!!!!!!!!!!

Text: Nachalo: When in Russia...(Book 1)--text, workbook, and cassettes

Particulars: Your grade will be assessed as follows: midterm and final exam--40%
Class participation and homework--30%
Quizzes (lowest one dropped)--30%

Because Russian is a spoken language, your class attendance will be required. Four absences without an official excuse will result in a penalty to your final grade. Homework is expected to be handed on time. Late homework will be accepted, but with penalty if not accompanied by an official excuse. The following syllabus is a guideline. Specific homework assignments will be announced in class.
