Introduction to Anthropology: a science of humanity

ANTHROPOLOGY IS THE HOLISTIC STUDY OF HUMANITY:

- seen from a biological perspective
- considered in social context

ANTHROPOLOGY INQUIRES INTO SOME FAIRLY BIG QUESTIONS:

- what is our place in nature?
- why are we such complex social animals?
- why does everything we do take on such meaning?

REQUIRED READINGS

Textbook: Core Concepts in Cultural Anthropology, Fourth Edition (2010), by Robert H. Lavenda and Emily A. Schultz. McGraw Hill, New York.

- Available at the Oxford College Bookstore

Ethnography: The Gebusi: Lives Transformed in a Rainforest World, Second Edition (2010). McGraw Hill, New York.

- Available at the Oxford College Bookstore

Additional REQUIRED Readings will be posted on Anthro 101's Blackboard page.

MAKING THE GRADE

Grades are based on short paper assignments, an in-class Midterm Exam, a Take-Home Essay Exam, an in-class Final Exam, and attendance/participation. The exams and term paper will cover material introduced in class, in powerpoint presentations, in films, and in the readings. For more details about how your course grade is figured, please go to the course website on Blackboard (log in to <http://classes.emory.edu> and click on the Introduction to Anthropology link in your courses).

IMPORTANT: The exams and essay are MANDATORY. A failure to complete any one of these will result in a failing grade for the course.

JUST AS IMPORTANT: Unless you have a valid excuse that you present to me beforehand, all exam and due dates must be strictly adhered to. RARE EXCEPTIONS are granted under the following clear conditions: you have a valid, documented medical or family emergency. If you require special arrangements through Disability Services, or if you otherwise know ahead of time that you have a major schedule conflict, contact the professor as soon as possible to schedule an alternative exam. Be prepared to provide documentation.
