Required Texts: Plum Bun, Fauset; Shadowed Dreams, Honey; Their Eyes Were Watching God, Hurston; The Sleeper Wakes, Knopf; Passing and Quicksand, Larsen.

Objectives: This course is designed to introduce you largely unknown women writers of the Harlem Renaissance. Through course readings and writing assignments, you will develop an understanding of the significance of this movement in African American history and explore the themes and techniques that have shaped African American women's aesthetic practices.

Attendance: Attendance in this course is essential for a successful performance. There is no attendance policy for this course; however, attendance is important for successful performance on the reading quizzes. I do not distinguish between excused and unexcused absences. How you use your absences is up to your discretion. Quizzes cannot be made up for any reason; therefore, it is up to you to make sure you maintain a steady attendance record.

Deadlines for Assignments: Papers are due at the beginning of class on the due date. I will accept no late work.

Plagiarism: All work submitted in this course must be your own and be written exclusively for this course. The use of sources (ideas, quotations, paraphrases) must be properly documented using MLA format. Remember that you are to adhere to the Oxford College Honor Code and that your signature on any assignment submitted in this class indicates that you have neither given nor received unauthorized information on the work. If you are unsure of what constitutes plagiarism, consult the Oxford College Catalog, pp. 94-97. It is your responsibility to understand the Honor Code. Ignorance is never a good defense.

Requirements:

- Close reading of the literature
- Class participation
- 2 papers of 5-7 pages each
- 5 rhetorical analyses of 2 pages each
- Daily Reading Quizzes
- Comprehensive Final Exam

Format For Papers: All final essays must be typed either on a typewriter or on a word processor. They must be double-spaced and stapled. I will not accept folded or paper-clipped papers. In the top left-hand corner of the front page, place your name on the first line, my name on the second line, and the date on the third line. All essays must have titles. You will find revision is easier if documents are word processed because you will not have to retype the entire essay. You may use secondary sources on these papers if necessary, but they must be properly cited and acknowledged.

Rhetorical Analyses: These are short (2 page typed, double spaced) papers on your reading. They will be used for class discussion; therefore, you should write with the expectation of reading the response to the class. You will sign up for the days on which you must write a rhetorical analysis.

Guidelines for Rhetorical Analyses: Analyses should be organized based on the following format: In the first paragraph you should include a one-sentence summary of the main point of the assigned text and a two-three sentence summary of one specific point in the assigned text that you will address in the rest of your analysis. With the remaining space in your analysis, you will work with this specific point either by elaborating on it or by critiquing it. You should use no secondary sources for these assignments.

Final Grades will be based on the following percentages:

40%	Two papers (20% each)
20%	3 Rhetorical Analyses (5% each)
20%	Daily Reading Quizzes
20%	Final Exam

Other things to know:

I do not allow cell phones in class. Make sure your phone is turned off or don't bring it. If your phone goes off in class, you will be asked to leave and will be considered absent for the day.

Throw nothing away.

If I am late and there is no notice at the door, you should wait fifteen minutes before leaving. Prepare the next day's assignments for the next meeting.

I reserve the right to amend or modify anything on this statement by means of future hand-outs.
