

Oxford Studies

Oxford Studies is a one-hour, elective, multidisciplinary course which, through attendance, participation, and written reflection, encourages thoughtful involvement in the cultural, artistic, and educational activities available in our community beyond the confines of the traditional classroom. Students earn credit by attending lectures, panels, musical, theater and dance events and by writing reviews. Oxford Studies supports the college's mission by promoting an engagement with liberal arts issues of shared interest. It is offered every semester and may be repeated for credit.
