

HIST 345 11J
Modern American History, 1945-Present
Spring 2005, T Th 11:30-12:45

Library Study Room, 2nd floor

Dr. Susan Youngblood Ashmore
Office: Language Hall 101
Office Hours: M-Th 2:30-4:00 or by appointment

E-mail:

sashmor@emory.edu <mailto:sashmor@emory.edu>

Phone: 770-784-8318

COURSE SYLLABUS

Course Description:

This course focuses on modern American history from 1945 to the present with particular emphasis on the social, political, economic, and cultural aspects of the United States. In order to understand post-World War II America we will look at four themes throughout the semester: 1) the variety of ways Americans have reacted to their abundant society, 2) the ways the Cold War affected Americans, 3) political interaction between the dominance of Democratic liberalism and ascending Republican conservatism, and 4) the contention over defining American freedom. Topics include, but are not limited to the political, social, and economic consequences of World War II; the evolving Cold War; American culture and its critics; the various social movements of the period such as the civil rights movement, the student movements of the 1960s, the women's movement; issues and events focused on the Vietnam War; Watergate; and the Reagan era. Throughout the semester we will have the opportunity to visit a few of the historical sites associated with post-war America in Georgia including the National Park Service Martin Luther King, Jr., Memorial Site in Atlanta (March 26), and the Jimmy Carter Presidential Library in Atlanta (April 30).

Course Goals:

There are several objectives for this course. First, by gaining a factual knowledge of this historical period the course seeks to assist students in learning to think historically by recognizing and criticizing evidence and using primary and secondary sources to understand the process of history. Second, this course strives to help students discover, understand, and appreciate the interplay of forces and personalities that shaped the history of modern America. Third, as a writing intensive class that fulfills the sophomore writing requirement, this course will also assist students in developing and refining their writing abilities by organizing, describing, and reaching conclusions on paper about material that they have studied. These skills will benefit students in the future when they enroll in upper division courses.

Required Reading:

These books are available at the campus bookstore

Ralph B. Levering, Vladimir O. Pechatnov, Verena Botzenhart-Viehe, and C. Earl Edmondson, Debating The Origins of the Cold War: American and Russian Perspectives, Rowman and Littlefield Publishers: New York, 2001.

Tom Engelhardt, The End of Victory Culture: Cold War America and the Disillusioning of a Generation, University of Massachusetts Press: Amherst, 1995.

John Dittmer, Local People: The Struggle for Civil Rights in Mississippi, University of Illinois Press: Urbana, 1994.

Ellen Schrecker, Many are the Crimes: McCarthyism in America, Little Brown and Company: New York, 1998.

Larry Berman, Lyndon Johnson's War: The Road to Stalemate in Vietnam, W.W. Norton Press: New York, 1989.

James S. Olson and Randy Roberts, My Lai: A Brief History with Documents, Bedford/St. Martin's Press: Boston, 1998.

Lisa McGirr, Suburban Warriors: The Origins of the New American Right, Princeton University Press: Princeton, 2001.

Keith W. Olson, Watergate: The Presidential Scandal that Shook America, University Press of Kansas: Lawrence, 2003.

Lewis L. Gould, The Modern American Presidency, University Press of Kansas: Lawrence, 2003.

Mary Lynn Rampolla, A Pocket Guide to Writing in History, 4th ed., Bedford/St. Martin's Press: Boston, 2004.

Primary documents and journal articles provided through JSTOR on the library web page under Information Gateway, E-reserves, and/or by the professor.

Grading and Assignments:

Essay One (4-6 double-spaced pages, Times New Roman type font size 10 or 12, one-inch margins) on the Aftermath of World War II and the developing Cold War (15%) initial draft due February 10 at the beginning of class and final draft due February 22 at the beginning of class. Essay Two (6-8 double-spaced pages, Times New Roman type font size 10 or 12, one-inch margins) on 1950s American culture (20%) initial draft due March 8 at the beginning of class and final draft due March 22 at the beginning of class. Essay Three (8-10 double-spaced pages, Times New Roman type font size 10 or 12, one-inch margins) on 1960s America (25%) initial draft due April 21 at the beginning of class and final draft due May 3 at the beginning of class. Unannounced reading quizzes (5%). Participation and attitude (10%) includes attending at least one outside trip scheduled throughout the semester: Feb 22 ; March 22; April 26 Jimmy Carter Presidential Library and actively participating in peer review of your classmates writing. Final Essay Exam, May 5, 2:00-5:00 p.m. (25%). Study questions for the final examination will be passed out at least one week prior to the exam.

All assignments as well as your final course grade will be based on the +/- system. To get credit for your sophomore writing requirement you must earn a grade of C or higher. You can pass the course with a C- or D, but you will not receive the sophomore writing requirement.

Honor Code:

We are a community of scholars. Therefore, academic dishonesty is not tolerated. Your name or signature on a paper or test submitted for credit shall indicate you have neither given nor received unauthorized information on the work, nor have you condoned the giving or receiving of unauthorized information by others. As a student at Oxford College of Emory University you have agreed to abide by the honor pledge and have taken upon yourself the responsibility of upholding the Honor Code; you are urged to inquire of the Honor Council about any doubtful case at any time throughout the semester. For complete details on the Honor Code please see pages 97-100 in the Oxford College Catalog 2004-2005.

Note on writing and plagiarism: Students must be scrupulous to avoid plagiarism and to give very precise and complete citations for any work used in any way. Always make it precisely clear to the reader through the use of quotation marks and citations which words, if any, are taken from some other source. Be very careful if you draw on any source—whether from the internet or an archival reference—to give the precise source of each and every word used. Avoid using too many direct quotations; I am much more interested in your paraphrasing of, and commentary upon, the authors' arguments than in your ability to quote directly. Nevertheless, even when paraphrasing you need to cite the source used. For further details see Chapter 6 in Mary Lynn Rampolla's A Pocket Guide to Writing in History as well as the American Historical Association's "Statement on Plagiarism" that will be handed out and discussed in class.

Attendance Policy:

Class begins at 11:30 a.m. and ends at 12:45 p.m. A 300-level course requires your regular attendance and active participation in class. Students are allowed two absences, every absence after that will deduct points from the class participation/attitude portion of your final course grade. It is your responsibility to obtain missed notes from class and to turn in all assignments on time. During class discussion of reading material I expect you to have prepared before class. Your class participation grade will be based upon your discussion of the material at hand, merely talking for talking's sake is not considered valid participation. If you attend class regularly but never participate in class discussion your participation grade will be a B-, so do your best to offer your thoughts or opinions on the reading material throughout the course of the semester. You will be expected to attend at least one (although you can go on more than one) outside trip scheduled for March 26 to see the Martin Luther King National Historic Site; April 30 to see the Jimmy Carter Presidential Museum.

If you miss a due date for any assignment, only absences due to medical or family emergencies (for example, attending the funeral of an immediate family member) are valid. You will need to present written evidence of your illness or family emergency for an excused absence. If you miss a due date on a written assignment, whether in preliminary draft form or final form, a late penalty of five points per day (including weekends) will be deducted from your grade for that assignment. If you turn in your written assignment after the beginning of class but on the same day it is due you will be deducted 2.5 points from your grade for that assignment. I do not accept written assignments turned in via e-mail. I only accept hard copies of written assignments. You cannot change the time of your final exam because of travel plans, vacation plan, job opportunities, or having more than one final exam on one day.

Visiting the Professor:

I encourage you to visit me during my office hours, or make an appointment with me if my office hours do not coincide with your schedule. One of the positive experiences you can have at Oxford College is getting to know your professors well. So, take advantage of that opportunity and come see me throughout the semester. On February 25th I have to have major surgery. A graduate teaching assistant will be working with me this semester so that there will be no interruption in this class due to my personal circumstance. I might be gone for up to six weeks. During that time, you will need to rely on the graduate teaching assistant with whom I will be in contact.

Class Etiquette :

E-mail: We will have a class conference on LearnLink that corresponds with this course. I will post all assignments on the conference as well as other pertinent items that may enhance class discussion. When communicating with your fellow classmates on the conference or with me on my personal e-mail address do not post anything that you would not be comfortable saying to your classmates or to me in person.

The rules for writing e-mail in formal situations—class discussions, letters to professors, student discussion lists—do not necessarily apply when writing e-mail to friends and family. So, here are my suggestions for using e-mail in our class. When writing to me or on our LearnLink conference you should use a serious tone. Address me by my proper title, follow rules of grammar and mechanics, and do not use all lower or upper case letters. You should use black ink in your e-mail message and a normal size font. Avoid using expletives and other slang in formal situations. I have heard it said that writing is like fashion, one style is not appropriate for every situation. For example, you would not wear your bathing suit to a job interview at a bank. So, get in the habit of using your professional voice when communicating as a professional, in your case your profession right now is being a college student.

Do not assume just because you can get in touch with me when you want to that I will be available to read your message. I rarely check e-mail once I leave campus, which is usually around 5:30 p.m., and I don't check e-mail over the weekend. So, note that I read e-mail from 9:00-5:30 Monday through Friday. Also, take time to think about your message before you send it. Never send a message when you are feeling emotional, particularly if you are upset or angry. I also do not accept written assignments via e-mail. I only accept hard copies of written assignments.

Finally, know that e-mail is not a very private communication system. Your messages can be printed out, and they can also be sent on to others as forwarded messages. Any private message you send potentially can come under public scrutiny; therefore you should not write anything that would cause you or someone else embarrassment or trouble should your e-mail become public. Most importantly, remember that even though you cannot see them, you are communicating with real human beings whenever you send e-mail. Do not let the impersonal screen make you forget to be as respectful in your communication as you would be when speaking face to face.

Cell Phones: I do not take phone calls during class so you should not either. Turn off your cell phone when you are in class or when we are visiting a historic site. Do not refer to your cell phone text messages at anytime during class or during an exam. If necessary I will require that you leave your cell phone with me during class or an exam.

Class Discussion: We will spend time this semester discussing readings written by professional scholars as well as by ourselves. In this process of discussion it is important to nurture the habit of being a good listener. Practice paying close attention to what others are saying as well as what you are saying. Through this process of listening well we will also respect each other. Our goal is to understand, not to operate only out of a place of judgment. In this manner we will be able to see the nuance and historical context of what we study to gain a deeper understanding. It is also essential that we build a sense of trust among ourselves that will enable us to speak frankly about some difficult parts of our historical past. If education means anything it changes us. That is not easy because we do not like change. So we have to be prepared to face historical reality to enable us to see the world from the perspective of others.

Students should approach discussions having read the assigned readings and thought of questions and ideas provoked by the material. Do not be modest in introducing ideas in class or in politely opposing the ideas of others. Ideally, discussion is a form of active learning that reinforces the sense that the classroom is a community of learning. Students should expect to learn a great deal from each other, as well as from the reading material and their professors.

SCHEDULE

Jan 20	Syllabus, What does it mean to live in an abundant society?
Jan 25	Making Connections between History and English	Readings on Writing E-Reserve
Jan 27	Impact of World War II	Gould, pp. 79-99, Schrecker, pp. 86-115
Feb 1	Aftermath of WWII—the Holocaust and the A-Bomb	E-Reserves Abzug, Hersey
Feb 3	Early Cold War Culture	Engelhardt pp 3- 65, Dittmer, pp. 1-19, E- Reserves Faulkner
Feb 8	Origins of the Cold War	Levering, et al pp. 1-68
Feb 10	Origins of the Cold War	Levering, et al, pp. 85-151
	Draft of Essay One on the Aftermath of WWII due at the beginning of class. Bring five copies of your essay to class (20% of paper grade).
Feb 15	Post War Politics	Gould, pp. 100- 124, Dittmer, pp 19-40
Feb 17	Cold War Culture	Engelhardt, pp. 69-171, Ginsberg “Howl” “America”
Feb 22	Cold War Culture	Schrecker, pp. 119-153
Feb 24	Cold War Culture	Final Draft of Essay One due at the beginning of class (80% of paper grade). Schrecker, pp. 154-239
March 1	Cold War Culture	Schrecker, pp. 240-305, 359-415
March 3	Civil Rights Movement 1950s	Dittmer, pp. 41-89
March 8	Civil Rights Movement 1960-1964	Dittmer, pp. 90-193
	Draft of Essay Two on 1950s American Culture due at the beginning of class. Bring 5 copies of your essay to class (20% of paper grade).
March 10	Civil Rights Movement 1960-1964	Dittmer, pp. 194-302

March 15	No Class Spring Break
March 17	No Class Spring Break
March 22	Vietnam	Gould, pp. 125-148
March 24	Final Draft of Essay Two due at the Beginning of Class (80% of paper grade) Vietnam	Berman, pp xi-113
March 26	Field Trip to Martin Luther King, Jr., Historical Site, Atlanta
March 29	Vietnam	Berman 114-203
March 31	Vietnam	Olson & Roberts pp 1-25, various documents
April 5	Vietnam	Engelhardt pp 175-259
April 7	Student Movements of the 1960s	E-Reserves
April 12	The Great Society–Mississippi as an example	Dittmer, pp. 303-434
April 14	Rise of the Conservative Right	McGirr pp 3-146
April 19	Rise of the Conservative Right	McGirr pp 147-273
April 21	Nixon and the 1970s	Lecture, Gould, pp. 149-169, Olson, pp. 1-88
	Draft of Essay Three on 1960s America due at the Beginning of Class. Bring five copies of your essay to class (20% of paper grade).
April 26	Watergate	Olson, pp. 89-183
April 28	Ford and Carter	Gould, pp. 170-190
April 30	Field Trip to Jimmy Carter Presidential Library
May 3	Reagan and Bush	Englehardt pp 263-303, Gould, pp. 191-212
	Final Draft of Essay Three due at the beginning of class (80% of paper grade)
May 4	Reading Day
May 5	Final Exam, 2:00-5:00. Bring a large blue book and pen or pencil. HIST 232	Dr. Susan Youngblood Ashmore