Course Overview

The objective of this course is to familiarize students to the sociological approach to understanding social phenomena. What is sociology? What does it study? And how is it different from other social sciences? These are some of the questions we will be discussing this semester. In doing so, we will cover a range of sociological topics, emphasizing the importance of sociological concepts and theories. Topics covered will include issues related to race, gender, inequality, religion, family, crime and social norms and institutions in general.

Course Readings:

- 1- Patricia Adler & Peter Adler. Sociological Odyssey: Contemporary Readings in Introductory Sociology. 3rd edition. 2009. Belmont, CA: Thomson Wadsworth. (abbreviated A&A below).
- 2- MacLeod, Jay. 2009. Ain't No Makin' It: Aspirations and Attainment in a Low-Income Neighborhood, 3rd edition. Boulder, CO: Westview Press, Inc. (Abbreviated JM below).
- 3- Readings on Electronic Reserve
- 4- Class notes on Blackboard

It is your responsibility to complete all the required readings before class and be prepared to contribute to class discussion. Please note that some days the reading assignment is heavier than others, so plan adequate time to complete the readings before class. If you are having problems finding the specified reading on reserve, or if you are having problems accessing Blackboard, let me know as soon as possible.

Course Requirements

- 1- Attendance and participation: Lectures and class discussions are integral components of this class. While lectures will make up the majority of time spent in class, student participation is encouraged and, in many instances we will have class discussions in which students will participate constructively. Attendance is expected, and excessive tardiness will not be tolerated. Students arriving more than 10 minutes late will be allowed to sit in class, but will be considered absent for that day. Also, class discussions are to be conducted in a respectful and tolerant manner. Offensive behavior will not be tolerated.

Attendance and participation will also be components of your final grade. Students with more than 2 unexcused absences will have a point deducted from their participation grade for each additional absence. Participation will include debating and presenting your views in class.

- 2- Short Essays: At different points during the semester, students will be asked to write a 2 page short essay answering a specific question. The question will be handed out in advance and students will have a week to turn in their answers.
- 3- Tests: This class will have 3 tests during the semester. They may include multiple choice, short answer, and short essay questions. We will have review sessions prior to each test, and students should come prepared for those.
- 4- Grade Distribution:

Attendance and Participation: 15%

Tests: 60% (20% each)

Short Essays: 25%

- 5- Letter Grades:

Percent grade	Letter Grade
93-100	A
90-93	A-
87-89	B+
84-86	B
80-83	B-
77-79	C+

70-73	C-
67-69	D+
60-66	D
0-59	F

Course Policies:

Late Assignments - It is crucial that you turn in all assignments on time. Assignments are to be turned in on the specific date. Specific deadlines will be distributed well in advance with the instructions for every assignment. Thus, all unexcused late assignments will be penalized 1 points per day including weekends.

Academic Honesty: All students are expected to conduct themselves in accordance with the policies of Oxford College with respect to conduct and academic honesty. Anyone engaging in acts that violate these policies, such as plagiarism or cheating, will be referred to the Honors Council. More information on Oxford's honor code can be found at http://oxford.emory.edu/audiences/current_students/Academic/academic-success/student-honor-code/

Disability Statement: Students with disabilities that require class accommodations must contact the Office of Disability Services (Ph. 770-784-8415; URL <http://www.ods.emory.edu/>) to obtain proper documentation. I strongly encourage you to make sure that everything is in order early in the semester. In order for to provide the necessary accommodation, Oxford must receive proper documentation early in the term.

Disruptive class behavior: As previously stated, disruptive class behavior will not be tolerated, and will be dealt with in accordance to Emory University regulations. Disruptive class behavior includes use of offensive language, being offensive to others, and any behavior that negatively affects the learning environment.

Make-Up Policy: My permission is needed to make-up exams and the short assignments. If you are going to miss an exam or assignment, please make every effort to notify me before the missed class and to gather appropriate material to justify your absence. If you are unable to notify me before the class/due date, please try to have a friend, roommate, etc. contact me via e-mail and inform me of your absence. A mutually convenient time will be arranged for you to make up the assignment. Makeup assignments will only be allowed in a situation of an excused absence (e.g., illness, family emergency, etc.). A note from the Dean will be required to make up the final exam.

Other Policies: Student work submitted as part of this course may be reviewed by Oxford College and Emory College faculty and staff for the purposes of improving instruction and enhancing Emory education.

The use of cell phones and/or pagers is not permitted in this class. Please turn OFF your phones and pagers before entering the classroom.
